“Together we will be able to protect tradespeople from knuckles to knees” claims Oscar, “This partnership brings two strong companies together and we are keen on helping elevate knee protection in the United States.”

Why knee protection?

The knee joint is one of the most important joints in the body and for many people, their jobs can require them to spend long hours on their knees. Unfortunately, this can cause serious long-term knee and back problems.

FENTO’s innovative and award-winning concept evenly distributes the pressure across the lower leg, using an ergonomic wedge in all the FENTO products. This is a major ergonomic improvement and makes working on your knees healthier and more comfortable.

Together we can protect knuckles to knees.

At Bob Dale Gloves (BDG[®]), protecting people is the top priority. As a North American glove and hand protection (PPE) supplier, this drive has guided the company for almost 45 years.

FENTO’s mission is to provide professional tradespeople with ergonomic, innovative, premium and sustainable best in class knee protection. In over 25 countries across the world, they already improve the lives of over one million professionals working on their knees.

With these matching values a partnership is a perfect match.

The right protection

With expanding the assortment, BDG will offer a range of ergonomic knee protection products and complementary accessories. The assortment consists of knee pads including pocket pads for pants, knee boards and external protectors to wear around the knees.

Availability

BDG will supply the knee pads throughout their existing distribution networks. This makes it possible for every professional in the American field who relies on knee protection to work more comfortable and healthier.
